S T E W A R T

Some Descendants of John Stewart of Amherst
County, Virginia.

2222631

Compiled by J. P. Mott, Cornelia, Ga. 1947

(The following list of descendants of John Stewart is by no means complete, nor does it claim to be free of errors. Its only merit is that it is at least an honest attempt to salvage, compile and preserve some data on the family.)

S T E W A R T

The first or earliest link in our Stewart line of which we have definite proof is John Stewart who died in Amherst Co., Va., 1784. His will is recorded there and in it he names his wife, Anne, and his thirteen children, nine sons and four daughters. His wife is said to have been Ann Haw.

There is a tradition in our Stewart family that the father or grandfather of the above John Stewart was also named John and that he was a younger son of the Duke of Berwick, that he was born in Berwick Castly about 1660, that he gave aid to the Duke of Monmouth in his effort to gain the British Crown, that after the defeat of Monmouth the young son of the house of Berwick was forced to flee, that he fled by night from Great Britain and made his way to France and thence to the New World where he landed with nothing but his sword and a book of heraldry containing his family lineage.

It is said that the sword was given by John Stewart of Amherst to his son Gen. John Stewart of the Georgia Militia whose youngest daughter Pamela Stewart Perkins was so attached to it that when she died, relatives buried it with her in her grave in the family cemetery at Cherry Hill, near Lexington, in Oglethorpe Co., Ga.

The book of heraldry is said to have been in the possession of Judge John J. Floyd, a newpew of Gen. John Stewart, carefully preserved by him in his law office in Covington, Ga., at the time of the Civil War, but that when the Yankees marched through that town they made Judge Floyd's office their headquarters and after their departure the book of heraldry was never seen again. Morgan D. Jones of Alabama says that he has seen some correspondence of Judge Floyd's in which the Judge confirms the above. This much is authentic.

Continued -

It seems then that John Stewart of Scotland who came to Virginia was a younger son of the Duke of Berwick, and was a cousin of Henry Stewart, Earl of Lenox, whose son Henry Stewart married his cousin, Mary Stewart Queen of Scots. They were all reared in Berwickshire and were all descendants of Walter (Fitzalan) Stewart, the sixth "Grand Steward of Scotland." (The office of "Steward of Scotland" became hereditary in a branch of the Fitzalan Scottish Clan, which after a time took the name of the office - changing the final "d" to "t" - as their patronym, - Stewart.)

Walter, the sixth Grand Steward, distinguished himself greatly in war as a Lieutenant of Robert Bruce, and in consequence Bruce gave him his daughter, Marjory, in marriage. Her descendants ultimately brought the crown of Scotland into the Stewart family, and later still the English crown also.

In the following 1 is the ancestor of all the other persons in the list. All 2s are children of 1, all 3s his grandchildren, all 4s his great-grandchildren, and so on. Any 3 is the child of the 2 next above or preceding, any 4 is the child of the 3 next above or preceding, any 5 is the child of the 4 next above or preceding, etc.

Robert Russell who died in Campbell Co., Va., 1791, is the earliest of our Russell ancestors of whom we know anything definite. He left a will which is recorded in Campbell Co., in which he names his wife, Anne, and his two sons and six daughters.

His wife's maiden name is said to have been Anne Beard. There is a tradition in the Russell family that the above Robert Russell was the son of the Duke of Bedford, whose family name was Russell, and that when Robert married Ann Beard, who was a poor Irish girl, the family refused to recognize her and treated her so coolly that Robert decided to seek a home in the New World and so came over to Virginia.

It is very probable that this tradition concerning Robert and his bride has been misplaced by a generation or two and should be assigned to his father or grandfather.

R U T H E R F O R D

William Rutherford is the earliest of our proven Rutherford ancestors. He seems to have been in Bedford Co., Va., from the time it was laid out, 1754. Bedford was laid out from territory taken from Lunenburg, and on a list of tithables in Lunenburg, 1749, appear the names of a William Rutherford and a James Rutherford. This William may have been our William and James, who died 1759, may have been his father.

Our William Rutherford lived in Bedford Co., Va., until about 1730 when he moved to Burke Co., N. C. It is not known when he died, but he was still living the first part of February 1791. He married, perhaps about 1755, Hannah Beard the daughter of John and Elizabeth Beard, also of Bedford Co., but formerly of Lunenburg. John Beard died, Bedford Co., 1780 and his will is recorded there.

William and Hannah Rutherford had sons named John, James, David, and perhaps Robert, and daughter named Rosannah (Rosa), Jean (Jane), and Elizabeth.

Moses Penn who died in Oglethorpe Co., Ga., 1795, is our earliest Penn ancestor of who we are certain. His wife was named Frances. Mrs. Mary Lou (O'Neal) Dumas, years ago, said that she was almost sure that her (Frances Penn's) maiden name was Frances Richardson. Mrs. Dumas had every opportunity to know about the family history for she lived with her grandfather Thomas Stewart, who was a grandson of Frances Penn, from her birth until her marriage, and she was always very much interested in the family history. I, therefore, think that Frances Penn's maiden name was Frances Richardson. There are those, however, who prefer to think (without good ground it appears to me) that it was Frances Taliaferro.

As to who the parents of Moses Penn were we are not certain, but it seems more than probably that Joseph Penn was his father and Mary (Taylor) Penn his mother. If so, he was the first cousin of John Penn "The Signer", for Joseph Penn was the brother of that Moses Penn who was father of "The Signer."

Joseph Penn seems to have been the son of John Penn and his wife Lucy Cranville, daughter of Sir Beville Cranville and his wife Jane Wyche, daughter of Sir Philip Wyche. Mary Taylor was the daughter of John Taylor and his wife Catherine Pendleton who was the daughter of Philip and Isabella (Hart) Pendleton, and grand-daughter of Henry Pendleton of Norwich, England. John Taylor was the son of James Taylor who came to America from near Carlisle, England, and his wife Mary Gregory, daughter of John Gregory.
